

Heightened Risk Disclosure

This Heightened Risk Disclosure is being provided to you because we have determined that Trading in Foreign Currencies (“Forex”) is potentially unsuitable for you.

Several factors may have been present in your account application which signals that Forex Trading may not be suitable for you. Such factors include, but are not limited to:

- Incomplete or omitted financial information.
- Information related to your trading experience, net worth, or annual income indicates that Forex is not suitable for your financial condition.

Please take a moment to carefully go over the Risk Disclosure Statement included in your Client Agreement account opening application. In addition, we would like to stress a few points:

- Due to the high degree of volatility and increased risk of trading on leveraged accounts, trading in Forex is only suitable for investors with the financial stability to absorb substantial economic losses. As a result of Forex trading, you may lose any capital deposited.
- As a client, you represent and warrant that you understand and assume the risks, financial or otherwise, that are associated with trading Forex. Furthermore, you represent and warrant that a total loss of deposited capital will not result in changes to your life style or those who are dependant of your support.

The undersigned has read and understands the Risk Disclosure portion of the Client Agreement and the above mentioned points. As such, the undersigned further wishes to:

- Continue the account opening process
- Withdraw their application(s)
